

Project based learning

Because in the IT sector more and more tasks are handled within projects that have time and monetary restrictions, auteega GmbH brings clients and freelance consultants together. These skilled professionals bring the required expertise at the right time and in the right place to help clients implement their projects successfully.

Within this cooperation, we see ourselves as service providers and partners for both our customers and our freelance consultants.

This partnership allows the implementation of the following benefits:

- Minimization of recruiting effort on the business side
- Minimization of sales effort on the consultant side
- Reduction in staff costs
- Better predictability of projects
- Maximum flexibility
- Sustainable transfer of expertise
- Elimination of administrative processing
- Use of the auteega network
